

Sir Richard Musgrave, Memoirs of the Different Rebellions in Ireland (1801)

INDEX.

- ADRIAN, Pope, grants a bull to Henry II. to introduce popery into Ireland, 5.
- Allegiance, oath of, held by the pope not to be binding, on his fedaries to a proteftant ftate, 25, 26.
- Affaffination, the lawfulnefs of it, inculcated by an Irifh Jefuit of the name of Mc Mahon, in 1641, 30.- That dodlrine avowed and inculcated by doctor Burke, titular bifhop of Offory, in his Hibernia Dominicana, in 1762, 39. - And by Ghillini, the pope's legate 40.
- Arms, 129,583, feized in Leinfter and Ulfter, in 1797, 165.
- Athy, and Narraghmore, infurrectons and maffacres there, 273. - Athy chapel burnt there, and an attempt to impute it to the proteftants, 286.
- Addrefs of the Roman catholicks to the viceroy 30th May, 1798, and obfervations thereon, 290.
- Arklow, the defigns of the rebels in attacking it, 434 - Michael Murphy, the prieft's letter to Houfton, previous to it, 435. - The battle there, 437.
- Afgill, Sir Charles, marches from Kilkenny, in purfuit of father John Murphy, 543.
- Antrim, battle of 547.
- Altamont, earl of, his houfe plundered 597.
- Atkins, a fanguinary wretch in the county of Sligo, 608.
- Abfolution from oaths granted by the pope to the emperor, and princes of Germany, 41 .- Granted by two priefts to Thomas Cleary, for the murder of his mafter Mr. Turner, Appendix 147. Granted by Neil, a prieft, near Youghal for murder, 41. - The power of granting it, not allowed by the popifh bifhop of Ferns to Bryan Murphy, a prieft, for want of a faculty or delegation. Appendix, page 148. - for murder given by a popifh bifhop. Appendix, 165.
- B.
- Bifhops, Irifh, obtain a papal bull to raife money by the fale of indulgences, in 1719, to dethrone the houfe of Hanover, and to eftabliih the pretender on the throne, 30.
- Burke, Mr. Edmund, fome aneedotes of him, 35.
- Byrne, Edward, an active member of the catholick committee, correponds with Sinclair Kelburne, a prefbyterian minifter of Belfaft, 81.
- Butler, the honourable Simon, a demagogue, and the hired agent of the catholick committee, 94 - Committed to Newgate with Oliver Bond, 10.
- Blake, a rebel captain, taken at Ballynamuck. and hanged, 613.
- Bantry-bay, French invafion, attempted there it 1796, planned by Arthur O'Connor, and lord Edward Fitzgerald, 163.
- Ballymore-euftace, attack on it, 443.
- Baltinglafs difturbances, and infurrections there, 311.
- Bookey, lieutenant, murdered by John Murphy, a prieft, 310.
- Burrowes, reverend, Mr. of Kyle, murdered by John Murphy, a prieft, and a band of affaffins, 331.

Ballinruffh, battle of, 347.

Ballynahinch, battle of 556.

Backlane parliament, elected and returned under Edward Byrne's writs, and held their session, 85, 86. - Send five delegates to St. James's, 87.

Barrett, doctor, his character, 626. - His son's character, 628.

Burke, Richard, son of Edmund, the papist agent comes to Ireland in 1792, 91.

Belfast, the presbyterians assembled there by Sinclair Kelburne, one of their ministers, begin a negotiation with the papists in Dublin, headed by Edward Byrne, 80. - The anniversary of the French revolution, celebrated there the 14th of July, 1792, 108. - They petition parliament to repeal the whole of the popery laws, and unite with the papists to overturn the constitution in 1792, 97, 98 - Belfast, a general mourning observed there on the recall of earl Fitzwilliam, 137. - The centre of motion to the Northern union, 156 - the presbyterian leaders there, endeavour to promote infidelity to forward the union, ibid.

Beccaria, his observations on criminal law, applicable to Ireland, 150.

Bond, Oliver, the Leinster delegates arrested at his house, 202. - His trial, 631.

Borris, feat of Mr. Kavenagh, attacked by the rebels 377.

Ballyellis, battle of, 515, 516.

Ballyraheene, battle of, 517.

Byrne, William, burns Tinnahely, and commits various acts of cruelty 515 to 524.

Bellew, general, at Ballina, his character 587.

Ballynamuck, battle of 611.

C.

Celibacy of the clergy, when first established in Ireland, 2.

Catholic committee, origin of, 76 - exist as a delegated body duly elected and returned in the year 1785, ib. - the nobility and gentry of their persuasion being obliged to secede from them, they formed revolutionary designs, 78 - who then took the lead in it, 79 - They pretend to be very moderate in their views, ibid. - Frame and send a declaration of their tenets to Sinclair Kelburne of Belfast, 81 - Curious debate when assembled to frame their declaration, 82 - Doctor M'Kenna's strictures on their improper conduct, 79 - Edward Byrne, by order of the catholic committee, sends circular letters to convoke a popish convention, 85 - Censured by the corporation of Dublin, who published spirited resolutions on the occasion, ibid. - Popish convention assemble under Edward Byrne's writs, and sit in Back-lane, 86 - Send delegates with an address to the king, 87 - Their reception by the demagogues of Belfast, ibid.

Carlow, county of, conspiracy there, Appendix, page 24.

Catholic society, first instituted, 78 - Catholic committee raise money on their body at large and protect the defenders, 90 - Extend their views, and rise in their demands of political power, ibid. - Negotiate with Edmond Burke, and hire as their agent, his son Richard, who comes to Ireland, 91 - Enlist some protestant barristers, viz. Tone, Butler and Jones, in their service, who write in their favour, 94 - This was done to lull and inveigle protestants to promote their designs, 95, 96 - Send missionaries to the north to unite the presbyterians and papists in the conspiracy, 104.

Councils, Roman, Lateran and Toledo. See Popery.

Civil wars in Ireland, produced by the reformation, 12 - War of 1641 occasioned and fomented by the pope's bulls, 28.

Camden, earl of, made viceroy of Ireland, and lands in Dublin ad of April, 1795, and the defenders raise a dreadful riot the night he landed, and attempt to assassinate the earl of Clare, 135.

Committee, catholic, send three delegates with an address to the king on the recall of earl Fitzwilliam - Incensed at the answer which they received, they hold a meeting, and an angry debate thereon 137, 38.

Crimes, and punishments in Ireland, observations on them 150.

Carhampton, earl of, sent to quell the defenders in some northern counties, 143. - A conspiracy to murder him formed by Dunn and Carthy in May, 1797, 175.

Clubs, revolutionary ones in Dublin in 1792, 113.

Convention law, a very wise one against the assembling of unlawful conventions; the earl of Clare the author of it, 125.

Coaches, mail, from Dublin destroyed the 23d of May, 179, 217.

Clinch, a traitorous yeoman of Rathcoole, hanged, 230.

Clane, attack on it by the rebels 240.

Carlow, attack on it by the rebels, 264 - Carbery, the charter-school destroyed there, 266 - Clonard, garrison there commanded by lieutenant Tyrrell of Kilreny, occurrences there, 267 - Confessions in the Romish church, not to be disclosed, and observations thereon by Romish divines, 291, 92.

Carlow, county of, fate of the conspiracy there. Appendix xi.

Carthy, Cambia, her love of justice, and her fortitude, 245.

Clifford, Mr. of Castle-annefley, butchered by the rebels, 346.

Cork city, conspiracy there, Appendix xi.

—, county of, conspiracy there. Appendix xi.

Carrickbyrne-hill, near Ross, a rebel camp formed there, 393.

Cox, William, captain, taken prisoner by the rebels at Coolcliff, 422.

Confession of faith, popish, found at Gorey, 443.

Caulfield, popish bishop, said he was desired by the rebels not to favor protestants in Wexford, 453.

Corrin, father, gives the sacrament to Murphy murdered by the rebels, 456 - Administers oaths and grants protections there, 451 - Goes to the bridge to favor the prisoners, but not till sent for by Mr. Kellett, 490, 91, 92, 93 - Obtains a certificate from George Taylor, 492 - Refuses to liberate Lett a protestant prisoner, 493 - Christened a child for Mrs. Kellet at Clonard.

Caulfield, doctor, refused to stop the massacres on the bridge, 490 - Bleffed the pikemen as they proceeded to the bridge, 496 - His letter to father Bryan Murphy about abolition, 497.

Colclough, his execution 511.

Charm, a written one, found on a rebel in the county of Wexford, 516.

Clare, county of, conspiracy there. Appendix, page 29.

Clonard in the county of Meath, spirited conduct of the garrifon there under Thomae Tyrrell, efquire, and his family, 521.

Caftlecomer, attack on and conflagration of it, 535 to 543.

Carey, William Pallet, printer to the united Iriftmen, 101.

Carmelites. See Scapular.

Cornwallis, the marquis of, takes the field againft the French, and marches to Athlone, 591

Clergy, proteftant, perfecution of, in Mayo and Sligo, 572.

— popifh, their characters in Mayo and Sligo 578, 583.

Caftlebar, battle of 593.

Cowley, father, his character 585.

Coloony, battle of, 605.

D.

Defenders, origin of in the county of Armagh, 53 - Encouraged by father Quigley in 1789, 58 - Their perfecution of the Barclay family and the maffacre of them, 59, 60 - Appear and become terrifick in many other counties in the years 1791 and 1793, 63 - Similar to the white boys in every refpect, 67 - Battle of the Diamond between them who were exclufively papifts, and the proteftants 67, 68.

Dublin, corporation of, their spirited refolutions on Edward Byrne's circular letter, 84 - Various revolutionary Societies there in the year 1791, 113 - So much infected with treafon in the winter of 1792 that an infurrection was expected, 1 16.

Dungannon, a revolutionary meeting of volunteers held there 15th February, 1793, 123.

Deafe, father, a prieft taken by captain Ormsby, 608.

Defenders, formidable in many counties in 1793 by the commiffion of nocturnal robbery and affaffination, 125 - Are equally fo in 1794, 126, 130 - Grow more terrifick in 1795, on account of the earl Fitzwilliam's recall from Ireland, commit robbery and affaffination in many counties, and become formidable in the metropolis, 135 - Spread fuch terror in fome northern counties, in 1795, that the earl of Carhampton was fent to quell them, 143.

Dublin, defenders become fo dangerous and formidable in it in 1795, that the loyal fubjects unite for their prefervation, 146.

Dunboyne, lord, relapfes into popery and leaves an eftate to the college at Maynooth, 147.

Dobbs, counfellor, negotiates with government for an amnefty for the prifoners in Dublin, 631, 31.

Doolin, Mr. murdered in the King's county in 1798, 196.

Darragh, Mr. of Eagle-hill, maffacred in 1798, 197

Dublin, ftate of, on the breaking-out of the rebellion, 211, 12, 13

Dunboyne, rifing and maffacre of proteftants there, 415.

Dunftiaughlin, rifing and maffacre there, 446.

E.

Emperors dethroned and excommunicated by the pope, 10.

Excommunication of the pope fatal to Henry III and Henry IV. of France, 16 - issued against Henry VIII. and Queen Elizabeth as heretics, 17 - The opinion of various Roman divines on the operation of it, 11, 14.

Exclusive salvation invented by the artful policy of the Roman pontiffs, 19.

Erfkine, counsellor, the conspiracy encouraged by part of his pamphlet, 154.

Executive Directories, one formed for each province in November, 1797, 175.

Enniscorthy, number of the garrison there, 348 - Description of, ibid. - Attacked by general John Murphy, 350 - Retreat of the garrison and the loyalists, 355 - Barbarous excesses and murders committed there, 356, 357 - The rebels form a camp near Vinegar-hill, ibid.

Edgeworthstown, attacked and plundered, 616'.

Elphin, bishop of, his spirited conduct, 615.

F.

Fitzgerald. See lord Edward.

Forth, mountains of, near Wexford, a rebel camp formed there by father John Murphy, 380. - A company of the Meath regiment defeated near it by the rebels, 382, 383 Foulkes's mill, battle of, 483 Fitzgerald, Thomas, esquire, saves the county of Tipperary from being defoliated, Appendix xi.

Fitzwilliam, earl, appointed viceroy 131 .

Forth, mountain of, a description of the camp there. Appendix xxi. 3.

French fleet enter Bantry bay in December, 1796, 163.

Giraldus, Cambrensis, his description of Ireland - 5.

Grattan, Henry, esquire, a cabinet minister to earl Fitzwilliam, encourages the Romanists in their expectations of a total repeal of the popery laws, for promoting which his excellency was recalled, 134, 133 - Presents a bill for repealing them, 134 - Received an address of thanks from the Romanists, to which he gives a most inflammatory answer, ibid.

Gorey plundered by the rebels, who commit dreadful excesses there on the defeat of colonel Walpole, 401.

Grogan, Cornelius, his conduct when the rebels entered the town, and his character, 447, 448 - His execution, 510.

Gaimon, a priest at Castlebar, joined the French, 601.

H.

Heretics, no faith to be kept with them, and not entitled to any rights whatsoever, by the pope and his sectaries, 11, n. - Heretical princes may be deposed by their subjects by the council of Lateran, ibid. - The same doctrine maintained by doctor Burke, titular bishop of Offory, and Ghillini, the pope's legate at Brussels, 39, 40 - Oath taken by the emperor of Germany to adhere to the peace of Westphalia, declared by the pope to be void, because it was made with protestant princes, whom he denounced as heretics, 41.

Houfe of Commons burned 47th Feb. 1794, 114.

Hanlon, a conspiracy of the defenders to murder him, 142.

Harman, Mr. member of the county of Longford, murdered in his house in January, 1796, 164.

Hamilton, reverend Mr. murdered in the county of Donegal in 1797, 167.

Hill, Sir George, his active exertions against the conspirators in the counties of Derry and Donegal, 191.

Hume, captain, member for the county of Wicklow, murdered by the rebels, 318.

Harvey, Beauchamp Bagenal, his character, and arrest of him, John Colclough and Edward Fitzgerald, 388.

Hore, William, of Harperstown, taken by the rebels, 442.

Hill, doctor, and his brother, curious anecdote of their captivity, &c. &c. by father Kearns and others. 433.

Hughes, William, his fortitude at Wexford in refusing to join the rebels, though threatened by Keugh, 472.

Hay, John, his character and execution, 507.

Harvey, B. Bagenal, his arrest in the Saltees, - His trial and execution 508, 9, 10, 11 .

Hackttown, battle of, 513.

Hutchinson, general, marches from Galway to Castlebar, 591.

I.

Ireland, when and by whom christianity introduced into it, - When popery introduced into it ibid.

Irish swore oaths of allegiance to Henry second, but violated them as soon as he returned to England; - Endeavour to expel all the English in 1130, 6.

Irish clergy, bigotry of and dangerous tenets, described by Waife, the Franciscan friar 6, 7.

Indulgences, invented by the pope to raise money, which flowed from the doctrine of purgatory, 18.

Irish, their hatred to the English heightened by the reformation, which occasioned many civil wars in Ireland, 22.

Ireland, the privileges enjoyed by the papists in it, previous to the civil war of 1641, 28.

Inquisition, origin of, 16, 17.

Ireland, the last country in Europe that submitted to the pope, 3.

J.

Jones, William Todd, an advocate for the Roman catholics, 96.

Insurrection law passed in January 1796, observations on it and its salutary effects, 148.

Jones, reverend Mr. an attempt to murder him near Kilcock, Appendix xv.

K.

Kildare, county of, conspiracy and rebellion there, 232 - State of, after the rebellion, Appendix XV.

Kildare, town of, insurrection there and massacre, 245.

Kilcullen attacked by the rebels, 258.

Kilcock, attack on it, 270.

Kilthomas, battle of, 347.

Kane, the bleffed prieft of Bannow, his character, 48a.

KingFborough, vifcount, h!s capture and captivity, 462 - Invefted with the command of Wexford by the rebel leaders, and fend meffengers to general Lake, with pacifick terms on their part, 498, 99 - Threatened by father John Murphy, 501

Knipe, reverend Mr. murdered in the county of Meath, 172.

Kelburne, a prefbyterian minifter and a demagogue at Belfaft, his correpondence with Edward Byrne in Dublin, chairman of the catholick committee, 80, 81 Keogh, John, an active leader among the papifts 82 - A flattering addrefs sent to him by them, 84 - Foretels in 1792, in the catholick committee, that from the negotiation in London they muft fucceed in their defigns, 91.

Kavenagh, father Francis, of Gorey, a rebel leader, 117.

Keugh, Matthew, chofen governor of Wexford by the rebels, his character, 444 - His conduct towards meffieurs Bland, Cramp and Kellett, 448 - Infulted by Carthy at lord Kingborough's lodgings, 464 - His power declines, and his life is in danger from the rebels, as an orangeman, 466 - Threatens William Hughes, unlefs he joins the rebels, 472 - Repairs to lord Kingborough with other rebel chieftains, to concert meafures of conciliation, and in order to obtain an amnefty fend meffengers for that purpofe to general Lake, 498 - His trial and defence, 506.

Killan, county Wexford, the rape and burning of fome proteftant women attempted there , 520.

Killala, French land there, 573 - Are joined by the popifh priefts, 578 - Retaken, 621, 22.

King's and Queen's county, confpiracy there, Appendix xi. .

Kilcomney, near Gorebridge, rebels defeated there, 542.

L.

Lateran, council of. See Popery.

Lowther, lord chief juftice, his fpeech on the extenfive privileges enjoyed by the Irish papifts previous to the civil war of 1641, 28.

Lord Edward Fitzgerald fled from Dublin March, 1798, 202 - Proclamation, offering £1,000 for arrefting him, iffued 11th May, 205 - Arrefted the 19th of May, 206 - His death, and a fhort account of his progrefs through life, 298.

Loftus, general, his movements with colonel Walpole. See Walpole.

Lake, general, his plan for attacking Vinegarhill, 472 - Goes to command the army in Connaught againft the French, 591.

Lehunte, Mr. an attack on him by Dixon, in confequence of a fire fcreen found at his houfe, 470.

Louth, county of, meeting of the Roman catholicks there, and their refolutions againft the defenders, though fecretly connected with them, 65.

Langrifhe, Sir Hercules, his animadverfions on the improper conduct of the Roman catholicks in 1792, 83.

Lucan, earl of, his houfe plundered, 598.

M.

M'Geoghegan laments the fubjection of Ireland to an English and not to an Irifh king, 3.

M'Donnel, colonel, his character, 624.

Maffacre of the Albigenfes and Waldenfes iunder the council of Lateran, 15 - And of the French on St. Bartholomew's day, 16.

Maynooth, a popifh feminary endowed there in 1795, 146.

Maffacre, a general one intended, the firft lift confifted of 30,100 perfons, 154.

Military organization of united Irifhmen, 161.

Munfter not begun to be organized till the beginning of 1797, 173

Military attempts to feduce them, 177.

Moir, earl of, arrives in Ireland, and moves in the houfe of Lords, that the penal laws fhould be repealed, and that government fhould try to conciliate the confpirators, 198

Monaftereven, attack on by the rebels, 248

Maynooth, attack upon, 283 - Maffacre of John Browne and others there, 284.

Manders, three fifters murdered near Athy, 280.

Martin, father, a prieft, taken near Rathdrum, his confeffion, 317

Murphy, father John, a prieft, rifes at Boulavogue, in the county of Wexford, with 3 murderous banditti, and defolates many parifhes, 327.

Murphy, father Michael, a prieft of Ballycanew, a rebel general, his origin, 338.

Meath regiment, a company of them cut off near Wexford, 385

Murphy, father Edward, prieft of Bannow, his conduct - 423.

maffacre of thirty-fix proteftants near Gorey, after the battle of Vinegar-hill, 480 - Of meffieurs Cliffe, Annefley and Elliott, at Roar, 414.

Meadows, Mr. an anecdote related by him of a papift, confined in gaol with him, 462.

Maffacre on the bridge of Wexford, 485 - At Scullobog, 425 - On Vinegar-hill, from 361 to 377.

Mutiny in the fourth light brigade at Ferns, 524.

Murphy, father John, of Boulavogue, his retreat by the Scullagh into the county of Kilkenny, 530, 1.

Matthews, of the Downfhire regiment, his purfuit of father John Murphy and his banditti, 543.

Munfter, province of, not begun to be organized till fpring, 1797, and completed in autumn following, 175.

Mayo and Sligo, the rebellion there, 559 - The Carmelites or Scapularians from the north, the leaders of rebellion there, 561, 62 - Reports about Orangemen diffeminated there, 565, 67 - Oaths of allegiance taken there as in Wexford, to deceive the government and the magiftrates, 569, 70 - Perfecution of the proteftant clergy there 571, 572.

Mountjoy, lord, his death 412.

N.

National guards, an armed fet of traitors fprung from the volunteers, and headed by A. H. Rowan and J. N. Tandy, are formed to overturn the conftitution, 116 - A proclamation againft their affembling, 117 - Attempt to affemble in fpite of the proclamation, 119.

North, predifpofing caufes to rebellion there, 152.

Northern Star, an inflammatory newspaper printed at Belfast in 1791, to promote the conspiracy, and did infinite mischief - 157.

Naas, attack on it, 233.

Narraghmore, infurrection there, 273.

Newtown-mount-kennedy, battle of, 314.

Newtown-Barry, attack on it by the rebels, and the battle there 393, 4, 5.

Neilson, a leader of the united Irishmen in Belfast, 105 - Meditated an attack on Newgate 23d of May, 214.

Neil, a popish farmer, hanged at Cork, his confession, Appendix xi.

O.

Oath taken by popish bishops at their inauguration inconsistent with their allegiance, 14.

Oaths of allegiance. See allegiance.

Orangemen, origin of, 70 - Their usefulness, 72, 73 - Particularly in the north, 194 - Reports in the county of Wicklow that they would massacre the papists 305, 306.

Orange lodges not formed in Dublin till January, 1798, 196.

Oviotstown, battle of 285.

Oulart, battle of, when 115 of the North Cork regiment were killed 339, 340.

O'Neil, lord, proceeds towards Antrim, 547 - His death, 551, - and character - 554.

Orr, Samuel, brother to William, who was hanged at Carrickfergus, commanded a rebel column at the battle of Antrim 549.

Orr, William, hanged at Carrickfergus, 178.

Organization. See united Irishmen.

O'Keon, Henry, lands with the French at Killala, 581 - Exhorts the populace to join the French, 583.

O'Donnell, father, of Kilmackfhalgun, a traitor, 607.

O'Doude, his character, 622.

Oxmantown, lord, his active and spirited conduct in county Longford, 618.

P.

Popery, first introduced into Ireland in 1172 [n.p.].

Papal power, origin of, 7 - Established by the council of Lateran, which becomes terrific both to princes and their subjects, 10 - The opinions of Romish divines on that council, 12 - Council of Toledo similar in its ordinances, 13.

Purgatory, origin of, 18 - And of absolution for sin, 19.

Protestants, number of, massacred in 1641, 30.

Papists, observations on their turbulent conduct made by Sir Hercules Langrishe in 1798, 83 - A petition presented on their part to parliament in February, 1792; but withdrawn as indecent and indecorous, 81 - Hold parochial meetings, wherein they debate and condemn lords Fingal and Kenmare, 78 - Endeavour to lull protestants, particularly presbyterians, and to attach them to their cause with a pretence of seeking for general liberty, 95, 96 - Unite and form combinations not to deal with protestants on the recall of earl Fitzwilliam, 136.

Popish, college, established at Maynooth in 1795, 146.

Paine's Age of Reason, printed at Belfast and circulated in the north, promoted the conspiracy, 156.

Papists raise large sums of money on their body in 1794 and 1795, 154 - Not sincere in inviting the protestants to unite with them, and meant only to lull them, 158 - Levy large sums of money on their body in 1792 and 1793, 90.

Protestant leaders at Belfast and Lifford attend meetings with their volunteer corps to attach the papists to the union, 105 - Ministers, some profligate out in the counties of Down and Antrim, encourage their flocks to join the union, 106 - Great number of them in the north very loyal, 194.

Protestants, loyal at first except in Belfast, 88 - Those in the county of Cavan publish strong resolutions against defenders, ibid. - The catholic committee and the leaders of the conspiracy endeavour to unite the protestants with the Roman catholics to overturn the constitution, 103., 105.

Peep-of-day boys, origin of, 54.

Parliament, the opposition in it, by gross misrepresentation of the measures of government encourage the conspirators, 148.

Parliamentary reform, an engine used to overturn the constitution, a motion made for a bill to promote it in the house of commons the 14th of January, 1793, 119.

Paolini, a sanguinary bigot, his book approving of assassination in Dublin, 634.

Protestants, have a strong predilection for a republic, 120.

Proclaimed, Down and Armagh, the first time in 1797, 165.

Proclamation, a wise and conciliatory one, addressed to the people of the north, by general Lake in 1797 - Another, highly conciliatory, addressed to the disaffected by government, 17th May, 1797, 177.

Parsons, Sir Laurence, moves in the house of commons, that the penal laws should be repealed, to conciliate the people, 199.

Prosperous, massacre there, 234.

Protestant church, state of, in the archdiocese of Dublin in the year 1798, Appendix xv.

Priests, Stafford, Roche, Kavenagh and Redmond, concerned in the rebellion, 318.

Poulsen, Mrs. her sufferings in a flood at Wexford, 450.

Priests, their influence, and protections granted by them, 460.

Protestants, urged by friendly Roman catholics to change their religion, as necessary to save their lives, 47J.

Prison-ship, the sufferings of protestants in it, 449.

Papists, property of, protected in the county of Wexford, 511.

Population, of the kingdom, deduced from Ireland, 524.

Portaferry, attack on it, by the rebels, 557.

Prefs, an Inflammatory newspaper, published by Arthur O'Connor, 189.

Papists, of Dublin, publish a declaration of their tenets, and sent them to Sinclair Kelburne - Their debate thereon, 82.

Q.

Quigley, father, the priest, encourages the defenders in the counties of Louth and Armagh, 58 - Deeply concerned with the defenders in 1797, 194.

R..

Rabaud, de St. Etienne, a French democrat, comes to Dublin to promote the conspiracy, 108.

Reformation, produced many civil wars in Ireland, 22.

Roman Catholicism. See always Papist and Popish.

Reynolds, Thomas, the plot discovered by him, 100 - and the conspirators arrested in consequence of his evidence at Oliver Bond's, 201.

Rebellion, breaking-out of, 13d May, 1798, at Rathfarnham, 211.

Rathfarnham, rebels first rife there and a battle ensued, 223.

Rathcoole, a conspiracy there among the popish yeomen to murder the protestants, 218 - The army poisoned by the rebels there, 281.

Rathangan, rising and massacre there, 251.

Rawson, Thomas James, esquire, his laudable and spirited conduct near Athy and Narraghmore 273, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8 - A conciliatory address published by him, 274.

Roman Catholics, address the viceroy, 30th May against the rebellion, observations thereon, 290.

Rebels, armies and generals, of Wexford, their plans and designs 392, 93.

Rofs, Old, a description of it, 407 - Approached by the rebels on Lacken-hill, and afterwards on Corbet-hill, 408 - Bagenal Harvey summoned general Johnson to surrender the town to him, ibid. - Attacked by the rebels, 409 - Description of the battle, 409, 10, 11, 12 - The bravery of ferjeant Hamilton there, 415, 16 - Anecdotes, curious, relative to the battle, 416 to 420 - Gun-boats, their operations on the river there and at Feathard, 420, 21.

Roche, father, elected general at Carrickhyrne in the place of Bagenal Harvey, deposed, 431, 32 - His letter to father Doyle, a priest 434.

Rebel, army, defeated at Arklow, takes post on Limerick and Kilcavin hills, against whom Dundas marches, 475.

Ryan, captain, killed by lord Edward Fitzgerald, 208.

Roche, the priest, his execution at Wexford 507.

S..

Saintfield, battle of 554.

Saunders, Mrs. of Saunders'-grove, county of Wicklow, her fortitude, 311.

Scapular, order of. See an account of it 563, 64.

Scullabogue, the massacres there, 425.

Servants, popish of Dublin, disaffected 120, 21.

Sheares, John, agrees with the Romanists to sacrifice the protestant state to gain their co-operation in the union, 107.

Sheares, John and Henry, arrested, 109 - Their trial and execution, 630.

Sirr, major, his narrow escape at Grange, 125 .

Smith, Thomas, his evidence on the trial of the assassins of Hanlon of the artillery, 142 .

St. George, colonel, and Jasper Uniacke, murdered at Arraglyn, on the 9th of February, 1798, 196.

Supremacy, papal. See Papal power.

T.

Tandy, James Napper, secretary to the united Irishmen in Dublin 31st December, 1791, 98 - Indicted at Dundalk assizes for sedition, and flies, 12.

Tara, battle of, 294.

Tinnahtly, burnt by William Byrne, 524 .

Tipperary, county of, conspiracy there, Appendix xi.

Toledo, council of. See Popery.

Tone, Theobald Wolfe, a noted demagogue, the founder of the society of united Irishmen, 94.

Troy, doctor, titular archbishop of Dublin, in a pastoral letter in the year 1793 endeavours to shew that popery is favourable to a republican government, and doctor Hufsey did the same in 1797, 112.

Turner, the reverend Francis, murdered at Ballingale, 344.

U.

Union of civil and ecclesiastical power essential to the peace and prosperity of a state, 8.

United Irishmen, their origin, and by whom instituted, 94 - First, at Belfast in October, 1791, 97 - Second, in Dublin in the 9th of November, 98 - Their different addresses, 99 - Dispersed by the magistrates and their papers seized 23d May, 1794, 127 - The fate of their leading protestant leaders, 128 - Their civil organization, 129 - Their military, 162 - Negotiate with the French, and invite them to invade Ireland, 168 - Assemble in large bodies in Dublin, and array themselves under the pretext of attending funerals, 171 - Form a design of rising in Dublin in 1797, 172, 73 - Seduce the king's troops, ibid. - Did not begin to organize Munster till the beginning of 1797, and it was reported to be perfected in September following, 173 - Form four Executive Directories, one for each province, in November 1797, ibid. - How far their leaders succeeded in uniting the presbyterians and papists in 1797, 180 - Employ regularly attorneys and counsel to defend their fellow traitors, 187 - Publish the Union Star to encourage the assassination of loyal persons, ibid. - And a newspaper, called the Pres, for the same purpose, 188- And the Harp of Erin in Cork, 189.

Ussher, Primate, his account of the religion of the ancient Irish, 2.

V.

Valentine, reverend Mr. his tomb and his remains violated 571.

Vinegar-hill, a rebel camp formed there, 357 - A description of it, 360, 61 - Massacres committed there, 363., 64, 65 to 77 - General Lake's plan for attacking it, and his orders to the general officers for that purpose, 472 - The movements of our different armies to surround and attack it under general Lake, 476 - The battle of, 477 - Father Clinch killed there by the earl of Roden, 478 - Why general Needham did not occupy the part destined for him, 478, 479.

Maffacre of thirty-fix proteftants near Gorey after the battle, 480.

Volunteers, origin of, 47 - Of Dublin, correpond with the revolutionifts in France in 1791, 108, 109 - Invited by the catholicks of Dublin to promote the caufe of the union, 112.

W.

White-boys, origin of in 1759, 32 - Bound by oaths to each other, and commit horrid crimes, their object to join the French, overturn the government, and eftablifh the pretender on the throne, ibid. - Encouraged by the popifh clergy, 33 - The marquis of Drogheda fent to Munfter to command a body of forces againft them, ibid. - One of their leaders, father Sheehy, taken by his lordfhip and hanged. See a full account of them in Appendix, No. I. - The laws made againft them prove the enormity of their crimes, and how deftructive they were in their proceedings, 41, 42 - They were fucceeded by the right boys 43, 44.

Woodward, doctor, bifhop of Cloyne, abufed and calumniated for writing in defence of hif clergy, when perfecuted by the right boys, 45.

Weldon, a notorious defender, tried and hanged in Dublin 139, 141, 42.

Westfieldtown, rifting there, 23d May, 227.

Wicklow, county of, confpiracy and rebellion there, 300 - Conciliatory addrefs of the magiftrates there, 301 - Disaffection of the popifh yeomen there, and how difcovered, 302, 3, 4, - General Craig's conciliatory proclamation publifhed there 313.

Wexford, county of, rebellion and confpiracy there, 318 - Diffimulation of the popifh priefts and their flock there, in taking oaths of allegiance and in addreffing the viceroy, 320,.

Wexford town, defcription of, 380 - Evacuation of by the garrifon as not tenable, 389, 90 - Their retreat to Duncannon fort perilous and painful, 389, 90, 91 - Entry of the rebels into it the 30th of May, 444 - Cruel and perfidious conduct of the rebel failors there, 445, 46, 47 - The great fufferings of the loyalifts who hired veffels to go from Wexford, 448 to 452 - Father Corrin adminiftering oaths and granting protections there, 451 - Thomas Dixon, a fanguinary ruffian, his conduct there, ibid. - Doctor Caulfield's obfervations to a lady there about faving proteftants, 453 - Another man of the fame name fhot there, 457 - A fermon preached there on Trinity Sunday by the popifh bifhop's chaplain, 451 - Colonel Lehunte and other proteftants obliged to become converts to popery and march through the ftreets, ibid. - The rebels fearch the houfes there for orangemen, 454 - Ninety-five prifoners brought out of the goal to be maffacred, of which father Corrin faved ten, 460, 461 - Protections granted them by the priefts, ibid. - maffacre on the bridge there defcribed, from 485 to 497 - The bloody committee in the goal defcribed, and the calendar of the proteftant prifoners, 494, 495 - Wexford, twelve yeomen enter it aift June, and ftrike terror into the rebels, who fly precipitately, 501 - The flight of the rebels defcribed in a lady's journal, 503 - A fermon preached there the 10th of June by father Roche, the bifhop's chaplain, 466 - Infcription on the bridge of Wexford, 512 - A proclamation read from the altar of the popifh chapel for the arreft of four magiftrates, 467 - Wexford county population of, 523.

Waterford county and city, confpiracy there, Appendix xi.

Walpole, colonel, the movements of him and general Loftus towards Gorey, 396, 7 - Their plan of attacking the rebels on Ballymore, 397. 398.

Walpole's, colonel, defeat near Clough, and the confequences of it 400, 401.

Wexford, general Loftus's retreat and narrow efcape from the rebels there, 403, 4.

Westmeath, county of, rising there near lord Sunderlin's, 615.

White, Hawtrey, a magistrate, discovers the conspiracy in the county of Wexford, and communicates it to government, 311 - Pursues the rebels, on Whitfunday, with the yeomen cavalry - 336.

Wilson's hospital plundered 615.

Y.

Yeomanry, origin of, in 1796, 159 - Opposed by the principal members of the catholic committee - ibid.

Yeomen, fourteen thousand in the counties of Fermanagh, Tyrone, Derry and Armagh, most of them Orangemen and presbyterians, 194 - Popish, of Dublin, many of them traitors, 220 - Disaffection of, in the county of Wicklow, 302, 3 - Of the county of Kildare, much disaffected, 163.

THE END.

ERRATA.

| Page | Line |   |
|------|------|---|
| 44   | 6    | For may read might.  |
| 52   | 2    | omit r. that   |
| 135  | 11   | lord Westmoreland r. Fitzwilliam.                              |
| 193  | 32   | error r. errors  |
| 197  | 21   | and r. that  |
| 225  | 28   | Add Mr. Creighton, excise officer, a protestant murdered at Dunboyne. |
| 226  | 2    | Angus Highlanders   |
| -    | 16   | For Angus r. Rea Fencibles                                     |
| 305  | 13   | in r. of   |
| 499  | 8    | Mayo r. North Cork militia                                     |
| 585  | 7    | sanctioned r. sanctified.                                      |
| 592  | 27   | Fanogue r. a chain of mountains.                               |

Though the author has made Truth his polar star in the course of this work, yet it is possible that some errors might have occurred in it; he hopes therefore that if any person should discover any such, they will be kind enough to communicate them to the author, and he will amend them in the next edition.

THE END.